NO FATTED YEAL FOR MR. PELL

NO PEPPERCORNS FROM NEW ROCHELLE.

Decause Had He Made Them Pay the Ancient Tribute Yesterday No End of Trouble Might Have Risen and None Fett Sure His Home Was Hisn.

NEW ROCHELLE, June 23 .- The proposed presentation of a fatted calf and three peppercorns to George H. Pell, seventh Lord of the Manor of Pelham, by his tenants and liegemen of New Rochelle as an annual rental for the lands occupied by the latter, which was set for to-morrow afternoon, was called off to-day by Mr. Pell after 500 invitations had been issued

Pell after 500 invitations had been issued. The cancelling of the ceremony, which was to take place at the Bronx Manor House in Bronxville, owned by "Lord" Pell, was because of the fear that the title to many estates in New Rochelle might be affected on account of the presentation being made by Mayor George C. Raymond and the Aldermen in their official capacities. To-day Mr. Pell received the following letter from Mayor Raymond:

My BEAR PELL: Your kind invitation to assist at a garden party on June 24 is respectfully declined. You have proposed at that time by way of eleasantry to make a demand for the fulfilment of a specific pro-You understand therefore that in view of the possibility of establishing a serious legal precedent by receiving such a demand I am regretfully obliged to give up the pleasure of being with you on that occasion Yours very truly, GEORGE G. RAYMOND. Mr. Pell sent the following letter in

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR: Your letter of June 22 is at hand. In view of possible legal complications of the kind you suggest I am glad to withdraw any and all demands for the kind mentioned and to regretfully excuse you from our garden party on Thursday; June 24. Very sincerely yours, GEORGE H. PELL.

Mr. Pell said this afternoon that he had a long conference with Mayor Raymond and when he learned that legal complications were liable to arise should the fatted calf be officially presented he decided to cancel the ceremony. The tribute was to have been collected as the annual rental of lands to "Lord" Pell by the power vested in him by his Gracious Majesty James the Second, King of Scotland, England and Ireland, but as there had been a lapse of sixty-eight years since the fatted calf and the peppercorns were last paid to the Lord of the Manor it was feared that if the Mayor in his official capacity presented the calf in behalf of New Rochelle people in payment for rent it might be binding in the future and the titles on hundreds of estates could be attacked or technicalities raised by sharp lawyers.

The calf would have cost the city nothing, as one had been given by Alderman Koch, who is a butcher.

THE LITTLE TAILOR WON'T MOVE Though They Pull the Walls of the Belvedere Down About His Ears.

The little Austrian tailor whose lease a store in the northeast corner of the besement of the old Belvedere Hotel, at the corner of Fourth avenue and Eighteenth street, had still four months to run when house wreckers began to tear down the building a fortnight ago, after the hotel had been sold over his head to give place to a big loft building, was still solding the fort yesterday, but his situa- Arch tion had reached an acute and discom-

When he heard that the hotel had been old and he and Boniface Woehrle, who owned it, came to a deadlock over how much "bonus" it was worth to gather up his goose and cloths and go away from there, he hung out signs telling the world that he was going to stick it out until his time was up on October 1.

Yesterday the wrecker had got to week ripping to pieces the old hotel reading room, which was right over the tailor's head, and for a time there was a later that the reading room with the reading room. Which was right over the tailor's head, and for a time there was a later that the read places and clother and clother and become tailor's head, and for a time there was a rain of bricks and planks and beams that shook the ceiling of the little shop and brought the tailor and his assistant to the sidewalk. The tailor let the surrounding public know that if anything happened to his shop ceiling he would be right on deck with a damage suit. With all their tremendous racket the wreokers were obviously proceeding with great care. They knew that they were right under a battery of the official eyes of the Building Department right across the street.

After a time the wreckers voluntarily

After a time the wreckers voluntarily gave up ripping things over the shop and transferred their work of demolition to other parts of the old building. It appeared that they had decided to let work wait over in that particular northeast corner until the courts adjusted the sparl of rival interests.

INTERBOROUGH PLAN DELAYED Metz Payors It. Being of the Mind That Subways Should Be a Monopoly. The Public Service Commission did not receive yesterday, as it had expected, the new subway plans of the Interborough company. These plans, the general outline of which have already been described in THE SUN, have been prepered and it is understood that the criminal trials, died suddenly yesterday ommission asked the company to submit them in time to send them to the Board of Estimate with the Bradley- station, and subsequently was removed Gaffney-Steers Company's plans before to his home in the Broadway Arcade,

It is not likely that the Board of Estimate will consent to the Bradley routs before the adjournment. Comptroller Metz is opposed to them because condition is made that the city shall build the Fourth avenue subway in Brooklyn. Mr. Metz objects to this line being built with city money because the city does not own the fee of the streets under which it would pass.

Asked yesterday what he thought of the interborough plans so far as their details had become known he said:

"They suit me, and I will go further than that and say that subways in this city are an inherent monopoly. With one company operating all the subways the people would get the advantage eccuse by means of transfers they could be carried all over the city for a single fare. To have different companies operating different subways is liable to lead to confusion, just as would be the case if we had more than one telephone company operating in this city."

E. S. Mendels, agent for the New York curb, has notified all mining companies listed on the outside market that hereafter they will be required to furnish complete statements of their condition at least once a quarter. If they don't their securities will be removed from the curb market lists.

Beginning with next month the curb agency will also remove from the quota-tion lists all companies that neglect to have their certificates registered.

Fellx Adler's Society.

Robert D. Kohn, architect for the Society of Ethical Culture, filed plans yesterday with Building Superintendent Murphy for the new four story and basement meeting house and school for the society to be erected at the southwest corner of Central Park West and Sixtyfourth street, a block above its present school building. The new building will be fashioned somewhat like a temple, with façades of limestone in the style of the French Renaissance of the third Napoleonic period, having a decorative cornice and a balustrade finished with sculptures, and lighted by tall arched bays.

The forum for Dr. Adler will be a great chamber of two stories with a lofty arched dome in the French Napoleonic style and having a balcony over the main auditorium floor. The basement will be fitted for the society's Sunday school classes. The building is to have a frontage of sity feet on the parkway and 100 feet on the street. It will cost $300,000. yesterday with Building Superintendent

The mast is 161 feet 2 inches tall. It is now in the care of John N. Robins at the Erie Basin, Brooklyn.

Company, who was seriously injured when a New Jersey and New York Railroad train crashed into his auto on the dike crossing near Spring Valley, N. Y., on Tuesday evening, suffered considerable pain to-day, but Dr. Isadore Dicker, the Hackensok Hospital surgeon, says that a fatal result is not expected unless it may be that the aged man suffered internal injuries. The fractured ribs and arms have been set. The scalp wound is painful.
